LAURINE MALENGREAU

---

« Can you see it? This infinite blue inside the infinite ochre? Look at the intensity of this detail! »

With hands full of silk and wool, Laurine Malengreau creates textile paintings. Layering the materials one on top of the other gives them a particular presence, which in turn gives her the feeling of primal joy. She is firmly convinced that art expands the good and goodness in things.

Inspired by the search for uniqueness her work reflects on the gesture that comes from moments of introspection. In search of this vital impulse, she creates vivid and shimmering works with chimerical roots.

Work that speaks to you.

ABOUT

*“Working with colours is, for me, an inner vibration and
an endless initiation.”*

Laurine Malengreau (Belgian) has been based in Aubusson the tapestry capital of France, for over twelve years. After completing studies in art history, Laurine began her training on the Nuno Silk technique in Madrid. She is a winner of the 'Artisan Innovator' prize in 2020 for being the only artist to offer large-format Nuno Silk works. Malengreau continues the great tradition of wall hangings to the delight of art collectors and interior designers worldwide.

*“A constant search for the pure gesture
where touch becomes evidence,
burrowing roots in the unconscious.”*

TO THE ART OF NUNO SILK

---

The word « nuno », of Japanese origin, signifies tissue. The Nuno Silk technique intimately blends natural wool and silk to create a non-woven fabric, all in lightness and transparency. It has its roots in the millennial process of felting from Central Asia. Its current version is a little-known area of expertise of the felt family, whose interlacing of fibers has been refined in Australia in the last part of the twentieth century.

STEPS OF THE CREATION

*“To begin with there is the material and the colors.
Their choices and combination are the essence of my creation.”*
